

National Survey of Student Engagement (NSSE)

The University of Wisconsin-Superior has conducted the NSSE during each of the past four years. The survey will now be administered every three years, beginning Spring 2009.

We present the survey to all new freshmen and senior students, via email invitations that are sent during the Spring semester. Our response rate has been higher than the national average during each of the surveys we have conducted.

The information presented on our current College Portrait is from the 2009 NSSE administration. Information regarding participation rate and demographics can be found below.
