

Ibaraki University Study Abroad Program

Why study at Ibaraki University ?

There are many reasons why students choose Ibaraki University for their study abroad experience. Here are some of the reasons.

Education

Small classes – Class sizes with an average of 6-8 students ensures maximum progress in learning the Japanese language.

Japan-related classes taught in English – In addition to the Japanese language program, students can learn about various aspects of Japan in English. For advanced students, an immersion program is also available.

A wide range of activities – We offer a wide range of social, cultural and educational activities, which includes a homestay program, field trips, cultural events, an international party, and much more.

Trip to Kamakura

Student support

One-on-one tutoring – Each international student will be assigned a Japanese student as a tutor, who will assist them with their studies and in daily life.

Inexpensive accommodations – Rooms with private bathroom and kitchen are available. (As of 2010, a single room costs 5,900 yen per month)

Location

Close proximity to both Tokyo and Narita Airport -

Mito is located within 100 km (65 miles) from the center of Tokyo, as well as from the Narita International Airport (the biggest international airport in Japan).

Nice, Medium-sized city –

Mito is the prefectural capital of Ibaraki with a population of 260,000. Compared to major cities in Japan, it is smaller and less expensive, yet is still a vibrant city with many cultural and historical attractions.
