THE WORLD LANGUAGES, LITERATURES & CULTURES DEPARTMENT

UW-Superior’s Department of World Languages, Literatures, and Cultures focuses on the study of languages, literatures and cultures from an international perspective. The department offers majors and minors in English and English Education, as well as a language program in Spanish. The department also offers a variety of correlated language Study Away program.

BROAD FIELD LANGUAGE ARTS

UW-Superior’s Broad Field Language Arts Secondary Education Program prepares students for broad field licensure as a Wisconsin middle and/or high school English Language Arts teacher. Students engage in analyzing, critiquing, and conversing and writing about literature and other media; students further learn how to engage their own future students in these endeavors.

Beyond the grades 5-12 classroom, a major in Broad Field Language Arts education can also lead to rewarding careers in higher education, communications, business, industry, government, and the public sector. Broad Field Language Arts - Secondary Education is a comprehensive major. As such, students do not need to complete a minor program of study; instead, they take additional, often elective, courses relevant to the major field of study.

Students who want to pursue careers as English classroom teachers complete the Broad Field Language Arts Secondary Education major, which primarily prepares them to teach middle school or high school English with background in literature, composition, journalism and speech communication. In addition to acquiring the skills developed through taking courses in these areas, students also study teaching theory and techniques, engage in student teaching, and meet all Wisconsin state requirements for Wisconsin teaching licenses in Broad Field Language Arts (EA-A) and English Literature and Composition (EA-A).

Additional benefits for those involved in the program:

- Small classes and personal attention from professors.
- Broad Field Language Arts Secondary Education majors follow a course of study approved by the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction.
- Students complete an array of courses in various literary focuses and genres as well as coursework specific to media studies and English education.
- Additional coursework is completed through the teacher education program.
- Scholarships are available specifically for English majors and education majors.
- Students have the opportunity to interact outside the classroom through the English Club, Sigma Tau Delta, the International English Honor Society and the Nemadji.

Find out more about UW-Superior’s Broad Field Language Arts program online at uwsuper.edu/wllc.

CAMPUS TOURS

A visit to UW-Superior offers an opportunity to tour our campus and meet with an Admissions counselor. We can arrange for you to meet a professor and sit in on a class of your choice. To arrange a tour, contact Admissions at admissions@uwsuper.edu or 715-394-8230.
With a degree in Broad Field Language Arts education, graduates are able to think critically, engage in evidence-based problem solving and express themselves in multiple forms. In addition, graduates are able to plan engaging informational and instructional activities. Such skills and abilities are vital to every business, institution and organization. English Secondary Education graduates have a wide array of career options and paths in a variety of fields including:

Education
- Middle school teacher
- High school teacher
- Curriculum planner
- Reading specialist
- Literacy specialist
- Writer in residence
- Counselor
- Community education
- University professor
- University administrator
- Librarian
- Archivist

Government and Public Sector
- Education consultant
- Non-profit program coordinator
- Training consultant

Communications
- Publicist
- Radio and television broadcaster
- Editor
- Journalist
- Technical writer
- Film/video producer
- Magazine contributor
- Newspaper journalist
- Web-based copywriter

Business and Industry
- Retail associate
- Training consultant
- Administrative assistant
- Human resource officer
- Employee relations officer
- Advertising sales manager
- Marketing manager
- Business/market analyst
- Data analyst
- Paralegal/legal assistant
- Corporate attorney
- Loan officer

A visit to UW-Superior offers an opportunity to tour our campus and meet with an Admissions counselor. We can arrange for you to meet a professor and sit in on a class of your choice. To arrange a tour, contact Admissions at admissions@uwsuper.edu or 715-394-8230.