THE SOCIAL INQUIRY DEPARTMENT

UW-Superior’s Social Inquiry Department forms the basis of a sound university education prepares students for careers and helps students better understand themselves, their society and their world.

THE POLITICAL SCIENCE PROGRAM

Active citizenship is the foundation of the Political Science program at UW-Superior. Our courses are designed to: develop students’ ability to:

• Study the roots of problems.
• Formulate creative solutions to existing local, state, national and international problems.
• Develop advocacy strategies that address and solve these problems.

The Political Science curriculum is committed to your success in becoming an engaged citizen and active scholar. Each course is carefully designed to provide you with a set of analytical skills and covers a substantive area that ensures you receive a well-rounded education in Political Science as a field of inquiry. The program offers:

• Internships
• Study abroad
• Academic service-learning

DEGREE POSSIBILITIES

A liberal arts education prepares you for life, not just a job. You may pursue the career of your choice upon completion of your undergraduate program. If your interests lie in politics or public policy, then you might want to examine jobs in the following areas:

• Governmental institutions at city, state and national levels
• Non-governmental organizations, media and advocacy groups
• Graduate school or law school
• The private sector

ALUMNI ACCOUNTS

“The skills and knowledge I acquired while a member of the UW-Superior Political Science program set me up for success in the real world and allowed me to gain employment in my field within six months of graduation. The professors truly care about each student and constantly went above and beyond to help me succeed both while I was a student and after graduation. I have highly recommended the program to both incoming freshmen and current students.”
