News from the Admissions Office:

Two of the three Admitted Student Days are occurring this month! Admit Days offer currently admitted students a chance to further put their foot in the door of academia, allowing them to more fully experience their academic program. We provide students with this opportunity to foster a connection with campus by diving deeper into individual fields of interest.

March 7th, our first admit day, will be offering a look into the Business and Economics, Mathematics and Computer Science, Visual Arts, and Communicating Arts departments.

The March 21st admit day will be focusing on the Educational Leadership, World Languages, Literature and Culture, Writing and Library Science, and Music departments.

Both days welcome students who are currently Undeclared/Undecided. So be sure to spread the word!
Ambassador of the Month:

Kristina Wood is a junior this year, working quite successfully on a Sociology major and a Gender Studies minor. Other than being a fine Campus Ambassador, she is a call team supervisor, admissions office assistant, resident assistant (RA), and a SOAR leader. She is involved in club volleyball and both the Diversity Action and Gender Studies committees. When asked her about her thoughts surrounding being a campus ambassador she simple stated, “I love being a campus ambassador because it gives me the opportunity to meet amazing people and broaden my network. I also love all of the fun events that we get to attend and be apart of.”

Call Team!

Call Team has been going strong, as always! Due to the upcoming Admitted Student Days, the teams has been plugging away, informing accepted students about the opportunities available, thanks to these kinds of events. The job of a Call Team member is not always easy, but they always manage to come out successfully! Thanks, Call Team!

Admissions Staff Member Success!

Devon Pfaff, one of our hardest working admissions staff members, is highly deserving of some recognition this month. Why? She has recently been accepted to into the grad school program at UW-Stout for Applied Behavioral and Industrial Organizational Psychology! Starting this fall, she will be following the dream she realized here at UW-Superior. After months of working together and one very high-level psychology class, Devon is someone who I wholly admire. Her passion is absolutely remarkable and I know she will be successful doing what she loves. Be sure to wish her a big congrats!
